

Bridging Digital Gaps

Presented By: The 519 & RIWC

Land Acknowledgement

We acknowledge that we are on the traditional territory of many nations including the Mississaugas of the Credit, the Anishinaabe, the Chippewa, the Haudenosaunee and the Wendat peoples and is now home to many diverse First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples. We also acknowledge that Toronto is covered by Treaty 13 signed with the Mississaugas of the Credit, and the Williams Treaties signed with multiple Mississaugas and Chippewa bands. This land is also governed by the dish with one spoon wampum belt convenient: an agreement between allied First Nations to peaceable share and care for the land around the Great Lakes.

The City of Toronto has been acknowledging the traditional territory since March 2014. Due to conversations with Indigenous leaders, including the Aboriginal Advisory Committee as part of the 2018 Toronto for All Campaign, the language the City of Toronto uses has evolved.

Series Progress

Today's Agenda

1. Learning about current state of pandemic

2. Learning about post COVID support

3. Reviewing additional online resources

Let's talk about
COVID-19

How has COVID affected people?

- A survey on COVID-19 and Mental Health, conducted February to May 2021, can be found on the Statistics Canada website
 - Fall 2020 to spring 2021 - higher proportions of adults aged 25 - 64 experienced mental health symptoms related to depression, anxiety, or PTSD

How has COVID affected people?

- Within the 25 to 44 age group, the percentage of people screening positive for major depressive disorder increased from 18% in fall 2020 to 23% in spring 2021
 - The proportion screening positive for generalized anxiety disorder increased from 15% to 20%

Have the stats gotten better?

- Even if restrictions have mostly lifted, COVID-19 and the influences it has on our wellbeing continue to exist
 - It's still important to keep up-to-date with the data surrounding COVID as infections constantly fluctuate

Have the stats gotten better?

- CAMH reports that levels of anxiety, depressive symptoms, loneliness and binge drinking remain nearly as high as they were in late May 2020
 - Gender gaps were also found within the survey results

Have the stats gotten better?

- 24.4% of women versus 17.3% of men reporting anxiety
 - 21.3% of respondents reported that they felt lonely - again there was a significant gender gap, with 24.25% of women feeling lonely compared to 18.3% of men

Have the stats gotten better?

- For more up-to-date information, you can head over to www.publichealthontario.ca
 - Week of October 8th - 8,929 new cases have been reported in Ontario
 - Ontario experiences an approximate 13.5% weekly positivity rate of COVID infections

Have the stats gotten better?

- New COVID variants continue to develop and affect people in stranger ways
 - Recently, major outbreaks have occurred within long-term care homes
 - Death rates from COVID have also increased

Book a COVID-19 vaccine at a City-run or hospital immunization clinic using the Province's registration system or by calling 1-833-943-3900 (TTY 1-866-797-0007). Vaccines are also available at pop-up clinics, pharmacies and some family doctors.

Book Appointment

Bivalent booster vaccines are now available for eligible individuals: Moderna Spikevax (18+) and Pfizer-BioNTech (12+). Starting Monday, October 17, the Pfizer-BioNTech bivalent booster will be available. Vaccines for children ages 6 months and up are also available. Book an appointment at a City-run clinic.

Novavax vaccine appointments can only be booked through the Toronto Public Health booking site.

Stay up-to-date with your vaccinations which includes getting all booster doses when eligible. Students in grades 7 to 12 can book for school-based vaccination appointments (Hepatitis B, HPV and Meningococcal vaccines) being offered at City-run clinics.

What does this all mean?

- A correlative relationship exists between COVID and rising mental health concerns
 - Unfortunately, this also means that support is scarce due to the higher volume of demand within our communities

How can I tell if I've been affected?

- Sometimes, the symptoms are difficult to self-identify
 - Our relationships may become strained
 - Experiencing feelings of loneliness, sadness, fatigue, or anxiousness

What can I do?

- While it is natural to have these feelings when adjusting to dramatic lifestyle and social changes, please seek professional help if symptoms persist or become worse
 - Speak to your doctor and remain consistent with booster shots and regular check-ups

What else can I do?

- Rapid tests are still available at pharmacies and drug stores
 - You can also receive rapid tests and advice from the 519's vaccine department and 2sLGBTQ+ older adult group staff

Accessing Info

- If you return to the www.toronto.ca homepage you can also find links to mental health support services

Below this, a secondary navigation bar includes links for COVID-19, COVID-19 Vaccines, Monkeypox, Mental Health (highlighted with a red box), Hand Hygiene, Flu Vaccine, and Child Vaccinations. The main content area is titled 'What's New' and contains four featured articles:

- COVID-19 Vaccines: Protect yourself, loved ones, and the community by getting vaccinated.
- Business Support: Find resources and support programs to help small businesses.
- Make the Right Call: It's important to make the right call at the right time, to get the service you need.
- Vote Early: Advance vote for Toronto's municipal election is October 7 to October 14, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Partial text at the bottom right of the screenshot reads: 'Activ... Go to 5'.

It's OK not to feel OK

Many people may feel sad, stressed, anxious, confused, scared or angry during the COVID-19 pandemic. These are normal and common responses to unexpected or stressful situations.

Support is available. At the beginning of the pandemic, the City of Toronto partnered with 13 organizations to help connect residents to free telephone, text and online mental health support during the COVID-19 pandemic. On April 16, 2021 the City announced partnerships with an additional 18 organizations to ensure that residents have increased access to mental health resources.

Through this partnership, the City's Mental Health Support Strategy responds to the needs of children and youth, seniors, frontline workers, as well as those with intersectional identities, such as Indigenous, Black, persons with disabilities and LGBTQ2S, who are struggling with isolation, stress and anxiety exacerbated by COVID-19 measures.

Our partners provide free mental health supports to diverse communities across Toronto:

- Across Boundaries
- Barbra Schlifer Clinic
- Black Coalition for AIDS Prevention \(BlackCAP\)
- Breakaway
- Caribbean African Canadian Social Services
- Centre for Young Black Professionals \(CEE\)
- Crisis Text Line
- Distress Centre of Greater Toronto
- Family Services Toronto
- Generation Chosen
- LGBT Youthline
- LOFT Community Services
- Native Child and Family Services of Toronto
- Ontario Psychological Association
- Stolen from Africa
- Strides Toronto
- TAIBU Community Health Centre
- The Access Point
- The Canadian Mental Health Association
- Toronto Rape Crisis Centre

What does this mean for the future?

- The return to in-person activities has reduced reliance on virtual communication, but not by much
 - A wide variety of businesses and social supports are still tailoring their services to accommodate virtual accessibility

What does this mean for the future?

- It is important to educate everyone on how to be able to use technology to meet recreational, banking, medical, and other personal needs

Let's talk about community support services

Medical Help

- The City of Toronto's Hardship Fund can help pay for some specific medical items/services including eyewear, emergency dental work, medications, medical items (walkers, hearing aids, hospital beds and more) or funeral expenses

Hardship Fund

Highlights

Employment & Social Services may be able to help if you need to pay for special health-related items.

If you are receiving Ontario Works (OW) or Ontario Disability Support Program (ODSP), talk to your caseworker to request help with any required special health-related items.

If you are not in receipt of social assistance and you require special health-related items, you can call 416-338-8888 to apply for help.

Read a summary of the Hardship Fund and how to apply.

Medical Help

- To access this page, search the Toronto.ca website for info on the Hardship Fund using the same method in previous slides
- You can then click on the blue text labeled “Hardship Fund” to find out more information about how to apply

Help with Health-Related Expenses for Low-Income Residents

Funds may be available to pay for certain medically based items/services such as eyeglasses, emergency dental work, medication, medical items (walkers, hearing aids, hospital beds and more) or funeral expenses. Low-income Toronto residents who are not receiving assistance from Ontario Works or the Ontario Disability Support Program (ODSP) can apply regardless of their immigration status in Canada.

If you are not receiving social assistance, you can apply to see if you qualify for help with health-related expenses. It is important that you apply before paying for your medical items/services, as you may not be reimbursed for some items/services if you have already paid for them.

Who Can Apply

Low-income Toronto residents, who are not receiving assistance from Ontario Works or ODSP, who require help with a medically based item/service, may apply.

How to Apply

To apply, call 416-338-8888 (select option #3). You will need to provide information about your financial situation and have details and a cost estimate for the medically based item/service you need. It is important that you apply before paying for your medical items/services, as you may not be reimbursed for some items/services if you have already paid for them.

For more details about what information is required to apply for specific items, read about eyeglasses, dental services, medication, medical supplies and devices or funeral expenses.

If you do not speak English or French you will need an interpreter when you call to apply. For help finding an interpreter, visit 211 Toronto.

After Applying

Your eligibility will depend on the cost of the medically-based item/service you need, whether or not that item/service qualifies for funding, and your financial situation

Low-income residents who apply for help with the cost of health-related expenses will be told by the caseworker whether or not they qualify after all needed documents have been provided.

Let's take an intermission

Let's look at emerging needs

Why should I learn how to shop online?

- Online shopping is very convenient:
 - Larger variety of products
 - Fast shipping
 - Browse different brands from the comfort of home
 - Groceries can now be delivered
 - Access deal unavailable in-stores

Where should I shop online?

- Search for trusted brands you know and love
 - Amazon, Best Buy, Canadian Tire, and Walmart are popular for online shopping
 - Companies like Uber also offer grocery delivery

How can I shop online safely?

- Don't overshare information to e-retailer (social security, passport number, etc....)
 - Regularly check your bank statements if your credit card information is saved anywhere
 - If you're shopping on the go, connect to a trusted, secure Wi-Fi

How to use Amazon

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vhpC4m61w-o>

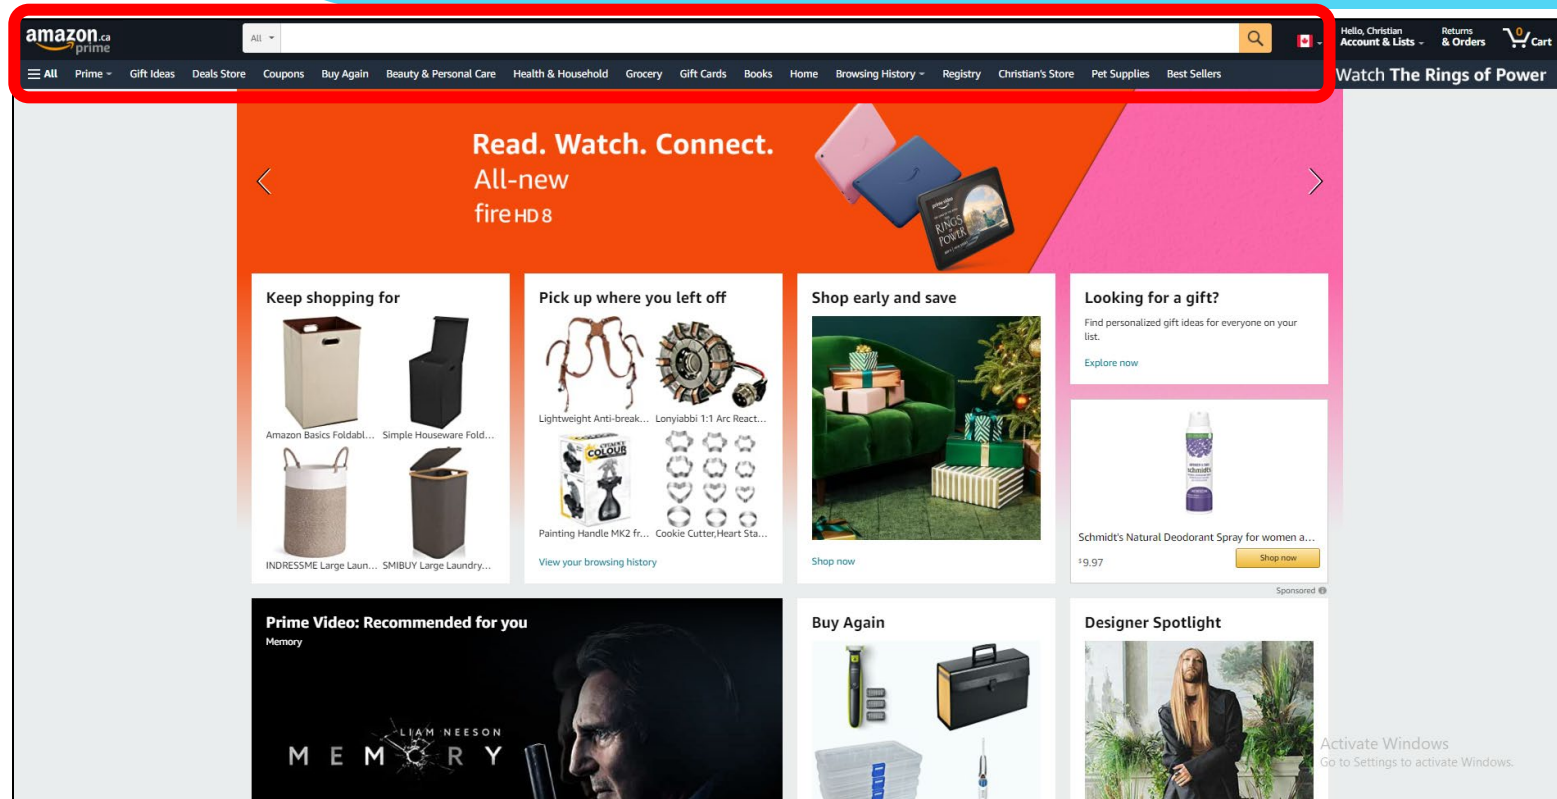

Online Shopping

- Ensure that when you search for Amazon on your browser, you type it as "www.amazon.ca"
- If you've entered it as "amazon.com" you will instead be brought to the American site
- Prices and shipping options will differ on the US site

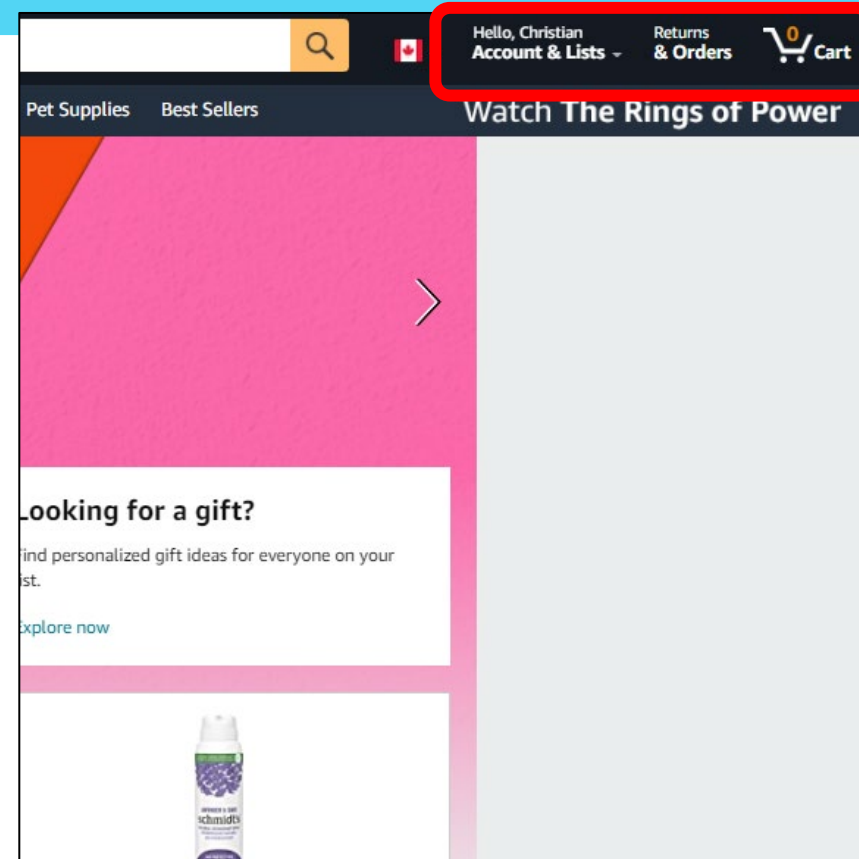

Online Shopping

- At the very top of the Amazon homepage, you will notice a search bar as well as different categories you can use to filter through products
- You also have the option to purchase things like gift cards and use coupons

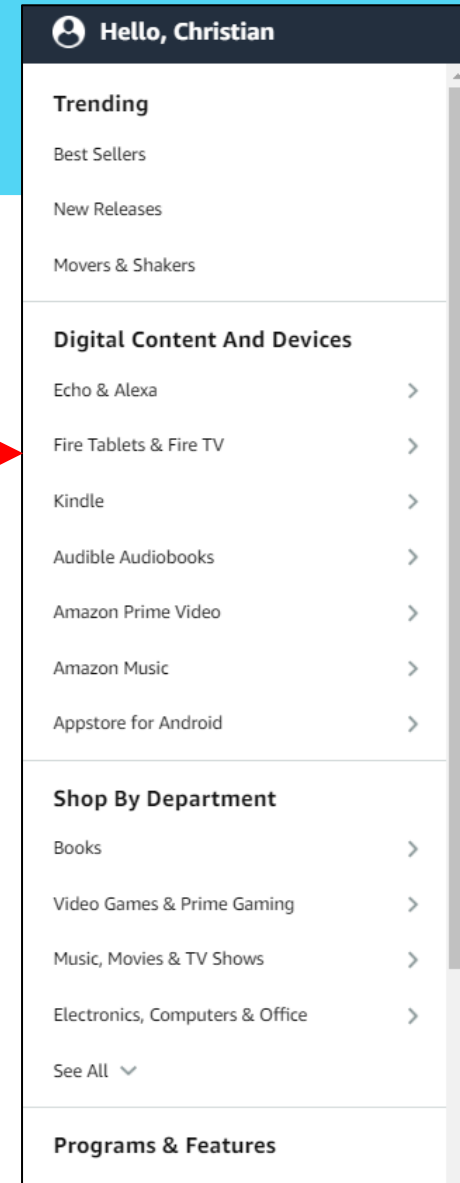

Online Shopping

- At the top-right, you can find additional buttons that will bring you to the sign-in page, your recently placed orders, and shopping cart
- Keep in mind you need to create an Amazon account to use the platform – refer to the earlier video for details on how to do this

Online Shopping

- Looking back all the way to the left side, you can also left-click the "all" button to view more product categories
- Pick a category by left-clicking and we can look at what the product pages on Amazon are like

Online Shopping

- Product pages will look similar to this one
- Amazon will usually show you the most popular items first as well as provide a brief description and user rating on each product
- Go ahead and click on one of the items that interests you

The screenshot displays two Amazon product listing grids. The top grid is titled "Best Sellers in Musical Instruments, Stage & Studio" and the bottom grid is titled "Best Sellers in Clothing, Shoes & Accessories". I was originally just looking for a capo and I found this one that came with a few picks, so it's a bit of an upgrade. It is the exact same as my original and works perfectly. I've had it for over a year now I believe and it's still in perfect condition. It's really good!
